DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of species G in the reply filed on 6/29/06 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the Species E and F should be removed from the list of separate species and claim 16 should be considered with the elected species G, because any of the disclosed devices can include an electrical component. This is not found persuasive because the elected species G does not include an insulating component between the blades. The specification describes the device in Figure 5 as a separate embodiment from the device in Figure 7A. The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 13 requires a single bolt to pass through openings in both of the blades at the tip adjustment joints, but the species in Figures 7A and 7B has separate bolts for each blade.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3731

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 12-15 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent No. 3,818,784 to McClure.

McClure discloses forceps that includes two blades with distal tips that have tip adjustment joints. The blades are connected at their proximal ends by a “fixing joint” (16). The adjustment joints include nuts and bolts that can be selectively tightened/loosened by the user. Although not illustrated, the tips have the capability of being positioned at different angles relative to the proximal portions of the blades.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US Patent No. 5,047,a046 to Bodoia discloses forceps with pivoting distal tips.
